To Whom it May Concern

Annette Bungers translated a workshop for me in Heidelberg in July 2009. Her command of English and German is perfect and she has the rare facility of being able to interpret simultaneously without pause for thought. This was very useful when the students had questions, since Annette could translate directly to me so that I understood what the students were saying to me almost immediately, thus saving a good-deal of time. I enjoyed her lightness of presence and found her considerate and helpful in other ways during the workshop. I can recommend her with confidence as a translator at Shiatsu workshops.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Carola Beresford-Cooke', with a stylized flourish at the end.
